

Phono Solar stands behind its Product in Australia with Warranty & Service Support

Phono Solar is committed to the Australia market. Under the Australian Consumer Law, a manufacturer is responsible for the quality of its products and meeting any warranty obligations. However, where a manufacturer of goods imported into Australia does not have a place of business, the importer or supplier can be held responsible for consumer guarantees.

Phono Solar has established a permanent place of business in Australia to ensure that customers using and selling Phono Solar products can access Australian-based service and be confident that Phono Solar stands behind their warranties.

All Phono Solar products purchased in Australia are backed unconditionally by Phono Solar.

Phono Solar is rated as a Tier 1 PV Module Maker by Bloomberg New Energy Finance and is part of the $35B SINOMACH Group, a Fortune 500 company. Our group of companies for 36 years has supported our international partners with warranty support. We thank you for considering Phono Solar panels and look forward to providing a premium service and warranty offering in the future.
